While everyday life is starting to normalize in many parts of the world despite ongoing COVID-19, economic and supply chain turbulences present both new challenges and opportunities for the life science and biopharmaceutical industries. This year's conference will showcase success stories and best practices for innovation and improving the resilience of organizations. We expect to attract more than 600 attendees globally from the life science and biopharmaceutical industries. The conference features 2 keynote speeches, 7 podium presentations and 2 panel discussions, with major topics highlighted below.

Highlights of 2022 BioPacific Conference:

- Best practices for small molecule drug discovery
- A new class of oncology drug targets
- Winner of the 2022 CABS K. Fong Award in Life Sciences
- Success stories from pharma entrepreneurs
- Building a robust drug candidate pipeline
- Pharma partnering and investment strategies
- New technologies for studying protein structures
- Targeting an oncoprotein previously thought to be undruggable
- Leveraging digital technologies to accelerate medical innovation
- China-US cross-border collaboration with large pharmaceutical companies
