CABS is pleased to host its 22nd annual conference virtually at 8:30am - 4:30pm PDT on Oct 30, 2021

We are expecting to attract more than 600 attendees globally, from the life science and biopharmaceutical industries. The conference features 2 keynote speeches, 8 podium presentations and 2 panel discussions. The covered topics include: cutting-edge science and technology including gene therapy, cell therapy and next generation cancer immunotherapy; patent and legal considerations in life sciences; latest developments in biopharmaceutical policies and regulations; cross-border investment trends and M&A deals in the life sciences field during the COVID-19 pandemic.

Highlights of 2021 BioPacific Conference:

- Targeted Cas9/gRNA delivery for potential in vivo genome editing
- New technology to develop drugs for previously undruggable targets
- Winners of the 2021 CABS K. Fong Award in Life Sciences
- Machine learning for drug development
- Cancer immunotherapy in the post checkpoint inhibitor era
- New technologies in cell therapy
- A first-in-class small molecular drug developed for HIV treatment
- Regulatory considerations for early cancer detection and precision oncology
- Status review of COVID-19 pandemic
- Investment trends and deal discussions in the biopharmaceutical industry
- IP and patent highlights in recent years
